

Disney
*An Almost Christmas
Story*

BIOGRAPHY
Alfonso Cuarón
Producer

“An Almost Christmas Story,” is a story from Alfonso Cuarón, the animated short, produced by Cuarón, follows Moon, a curious young owl who unexpectedly finds himself stuck in a Christmas tree destined for Rockefeller Plaza. The short marks the latest entry in his series of holiday shorts, following “Le Pupille” and “The Shepherd.”

Alfonso Cuarón is a five-time Academy Award-winner who has written and directed acclaimed films including “Roma,” “Gravity,” “Children of Men” and “Y tu mamá también.” Cuarón's most recent project is “Disclaimer” for Apple TV+, a series starring Cate Blanchett and Kevin Kline, which premiered on October 11th. In 2022, he produced Alice Rohrwacher's Oscar-nominated short film Le Pupille, making him the second person recognized in seven different Oscar categories. Cuarón's other credits include “Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban,” “Great Expectations,” “A Little Princess” and his directorial debut, “Sólo con tu pareja.” Cuarón continues to collaborate with longtime partner Anonymous Content.