Charlie Bushnell
“Bobby”

The son of a musician and nephew to a film and television actor, Charlie Bushnell grew up destined to be in show business. When he was just 10 years old, Bushnell started making home movies with his friends. It was when he binge-watching “Stranger Things” that he realized he wanted to pursue acting.

In the beginning, Bushnell self-trained by memorizing monologues every day and filming himself. Then, he participated in elementary and middle school plays and eventually started taking professional acting classes. Auditions quickly followed and soon he landed the role of Bobby, Elena’s brother in “Diary of a Future President.”

When the cameras stop, the Los Angeles-native loves just being a regular ninth grader, playing soccer and tennis, crushing it with video games, studying hard, and living life!
