

INSIDE PIXAR

A documentary series of personal and cinematic stories that provide an inside look into the people, artistry, and culture of Pixar Animation Studios.

Title: Inside Pixar Collection 1: Inspired
U.S. Premiere: November 13, 2020

Inspired: Kemp Powers, Writing Something Real

Authenticity is essential to creating a film that is believable and relatable. Co-Director Kemp Powers discusses the real-life experiences that led him to propose a simple, yet pivotal scene in Soul.

Duration: 10:09
Director: Tony Kaplan

Inspired: Deanna Marsigliese, The Art of the Pivot

Inspiration isn't instant. Coming up with unique and creative characters takes time and effort. Character Designer Deanna Marsigliese takes us through the process of character creation and the artistic detours that often come with it.

Duration: 10:47
Director: Erica Milsom

Inspired: Steven Hunter, For That Kid

Growing up in a small town in Canada, Steven Hunter never felt like he saw himself represented in cartoons and comic books. After getting the opportunity to direct a Pixar SparkShort, Steven was inspired by his own life to create 'Out,' a unique and vulnerable story he wished he saw in his youth.

Duration: 9:00
Director: Tony Kaplan

Inspired: Jessica Heidt, Who Gets All the Lines?

Script Supervisor Jessica Heidt manages endless lines of dialogue. Through her script access, she detected a disparity in male to female roles, motivating her to create a program to improve gender balance throughout Pixar's films and the greater film industry.

Duration: 11:00

Director: Erica Milsom

Inspired: Dan Scanlon, Where Ideas Come From

Inspiration can be hard to come by. Sometimes it takes years to find, while other times it's been right under your nose. Director Dan Scanlon takes us on a personal journey of inspiration that led to his film, Onward.

Duration: 9:00

Director: Tony Kaplan

Media Contacts: Melissa E. McKeon (Disney+)
818.460.7025
Melissa.E.McKeon.-ND@Disney.com

Chris Wiggum (Pixar Animation Studios)
510.922.4177
CWiggum@Pixar.com