

Faly Rakotohavana
"Matteo"

Faly Rakotohavana stars as Matteo, a sweet, smart and shy second-born royal in the upcoming Disney+ original movie "Secret Society of Second-Born Royals." Matteo has a slightly awkward super human ability that is repulsive to some but surprisingly more useful than one can imagine.

Rakotohavana is no stranger to playing characters with special abilities in the Disney Channel series "Raven's Home" he played Miles who had the psychic ability of mind control. He also starred alongside Mickey Rourke in the horror anthology film "Nightmare Cinema." Prior to that, he could be seen in the comedy series "The Mick", where he had a recurring role and is also set to guest star in the upcoming pilot "Rita" opposite Lena Headey.

Rakotohavana started acting in his home state of Texas, starring in community theater productions of "Peter Pan" and "A Christmas Story." He is a trained singer and is proficient in the piano and violin. In his spare time, you can find him jamming on his uke and playing with his dog Nala.