

Lyndon Smith
"Agent Ross"

Lyndon Smith was a series regular on Ed Burns's TNT period NYC cop drama "Public Morals," but she is best known for her captivating work as "Natalie" on "Parenthood." Lyndon's other notable recurring roles include AppleTV+'s "Are you Sleeping" opposite Octavia Spencer, SHOWTIME's "White Famous," as well as the comedies "I'm Sorry" and "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend." Lyndon had a role in the 2019 feature film "El Tonto" opposite Charlie Day and Kate Beckinsale, and she starred in 2018's NETFLIX feature "Step Sisters." Lyndon was also a part of director Billy Ray's "The Secret in Their Eyes," playing opposite Chiwetel Ejiofor. In theater, she starred in "Death of the Author" opposite Orson Bean at the Geffen Playhouse.

Lyndon is repped by Gersh and Main Title Entertainment.
