

BIOGRAPHY

Milo Manheim "Zed"

Milo Manheim reprises his lead role as the charismatic Zombie Zed in "ZOMBIES 4: Dawn of the Vampires," the latest installment in the Disney Channel Original Movie franchise. He is also executive producer on the film.

With an extensive and impressive career, Manheim continues to prove himself to be a true rising force and one of Hollywood's young actors to watch.

Manheim currently stars as Wally in YA drama series "School Spirits," which recently released its second season. The series debuted to a great reception and later found a new audience when it began streaming, where it remained in the Top 10 for multiple weeks. The 2nd season also received an impressive 104% audience increase within 7 days post-premiere.

Manheim recently starred in the Deaf West stage production of Green Day's "American Idiot," which broke records by becoming the Los Angeles Mark Taper Forum's highest-selling show of all time. This production included both deaf and hearing actors who performed simultaneously in American Sign Language and spoken English. Manheim played the role of 'Johnny,' which he shared with Daniel Durant ("Coda"). Up next, Milo will be making his Off-Broadway debut starring as Seymour in "Little Shop of Horrors" alongside Elizabeth Gillies. The 12-week run will begin in February.

In 2023, Manheim starred in the Disney+ rom-com "Prom Pact," as well as appeared in a memorable recurring role on "Doogie Kamealoha, M.D.," also available on Disney+. That fall he also starred in two major theatrical releases – Eli Roth's "Thanksgiving" opposite Patrick Dempsey and Addison Rae (which has already cemented itself as a cult-classic slasher film) and the well-received musical "Journey to Bethlehem" as Joseph, alongside Fiona Palomo (Mary).

Manheim grew up in Los Angeles, CA with a passion for acting and began training in an after-school program at the age of 7. He went on to perform in 15 musicals with Liza Monjauze Productions, including "Rent," "Footloose," "Tommy," "A Chorus Line," "Gypsy," and "Spring Awakening." Manheim also performed in the original musical "Generation Me" at the prestigious New York Musical Festival (NYMF), for which he won the 2017 NYMF Award of Excellence for Best Leading Actor. The following year, he wowed audiences and came in second place in the 27th season of ABC's "Dancing with the Stars."

"ZOMBIES 4: Dawn of the Vampires" is set to premiere on Disney Channel and Disney+ summer 2025.
