

OWN THE ROOM

"OWN THE ROOM" FILM SUBJECT BIOS

Santosh Pandey (Nepal)

Santosh grew up in a small town in Nepal. With his father in the military, Santosh was sent to military school at a young age, but the structured lifestyle didn't fit his creative, playful personality. He now studies at Kathmandu University, where he bikes 20 miles to campus each day, and founded a company called Offering Happiness, which plans and executes surprises of all sorts. The company caters to the hundreds of thousands of Nepalese who work overseas and don't get to see their loved ones as much as they'd like. Offering Happiness gives them the opportunity to do something special. The company has no limitations on what they will pull-off for customers and has planned more than 500 surprises since its inception in 2017.
