

Paul Hoen

Director and Executive Producer

Paul Hoen is the director and executive producer of "ZOMBIES 3," the highly anticipated third installment in Disney's "ZOMBIES" franchise. He also directed the hugely successful "ZOMBIES" and "ZOMBIES 2."

Hoen won the DGA Award in 2007 for "Jump In!" and again in 2012 for "Let It Shine." He was also nominated for a DGA Award for "The Cheetah Girls One World" in 2008 and for "Camp Rock 2: The Final Jam" in 2010.

Additionally, Hoen was nominated for DGA Award for his work on the ABC Family movie "Searching for David's Heart," and for the episode of "Even Stevens" entitled "Take My Sister...Please."

Disney Channel Original Movie franchise titles that are directed by Hoen include "How to Build a Better Boy," "Cloud 9," "Dadnapped," "Read It and Weep," "Eddie's Million Dollar Cook-Off," "You Wish!," "Luck of the Irish" and "Tru Confessions," winner of a Media Access Award.

Hoen's additional credits include Disney Channel's hit series "Andi Mack," as well as "JONAS L.A.," "Zeke and Luther," "Roundhouse," "The Secret World of Alex Mack," "Sabrina, the Teenage Witch," "Cousin Skeeter," "The Jersey," "Just for Kicks," "Ned's Declassified School Survival Guide" and "Just Jordan." He has also directed several episodes of "South of Nowhere," which received a GLAAD Award nomination for Best Teen Drama.