Rosemarie DeWitt "Diane Brooks"

After a series of acclaimed turns in film, television and theatre, Rosemarie DeWitt's grace, style and charm are at the heart of several highly-anticipated projects in which she collaborates with some of the industry's most honored talent.

Up next, DeWitt can be seen starring in Disney+'s film adaptation of the New York Times best-selling novel "Out of My Mind" by author Sharon M. Harper. Directed by Amber Sealey, "Out of My Mind" follows a young girl with cerebral palsy, and how she and her mother navigate sixth grade as a non-verbal wheelchair user. DeWitt will portray Diane, Melody's mother and fiercest advocate.

Most recently, DeWitt appeared in the series-finale episode of Apple TV+'s Golden Globe-nominated series "'Lessons in Chemistry.'" She can also be seen starring opposite Toni Colette and Anna Farris in the 2022 black comedy "The Estate." The same year, she starred opposite Colin Firth and Toni Collette in HBO Max's Emmy and Golden Globe-nominated series "The Staircase". The true crime drama tells the story of Michael Peterson, a crime novelist accused of killing his wife Kathleen after she is found dead at the bottom of a staircase in their home, and the 16-year judicial battle that followed.

She also featured in the 2021 drama "The Same Storm", alongside Sandra Oh and Mary-Louise Parker. In television, DeWitt had a recurring role in the Emmy-nominated Amazon Prime series "The Boys", and also featured in the "Sex and the City" revival "And Just Like That..."

In 2020, DeWitt starred in the critically acclaimed Hulu series "Little Fires Everywhere" alongside Kerry Washington and Reese Witherspoon. In 2018, she had lead roles in "Arizona", "Song of Back and Neck" and "The Professor". Prior to that she starred in the season three premiere episode of the acclaimed British series, "Black Mirror " for director Jodie Foster and in the 2017 indie-thriller "Sweet Virginia".

In 2016, DeWitt appeared in Damien Chazelle's Oscar-winning musical romance "La La Land" for Lionsgate opposite Ryan Gosling and Emma Stone. Other film credits include, Jason Reitman's "Men, Women and Children", Focus Features' "Kill the Messenger" opposite Jeremy Renner, Gus Van Sant's "Promised Land" opposite Matt Damon, "Your Sister's Sister", opposite Emily Blunt and Mark Duplass, and Jonathan Demme's "Rachel Getting Married".

DeWitt was also seen in the third season of the Showtime comedy series, "The United States of Tara" alongside Toni Collette. In addition to her role on "The United States of Tara", DeWitt also recurred on the critically acclaimed AMC series, "Mad Men", playing Don Draper's (Jon Hamm) bohemian mistress in the show's first season.
