

BIOGRAPHY
Mark Jackson
"Isaac"

Mark Jackson is an English actor born in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. In his teens, he began performing in various productions and Europe-wide acting competitions. This led him to pursue a degree in English and drama at the University of East Anglia, Norwich. In 2003, Jackson began his training as an actor, studying for three years at the prestigious Bristol Old Vic Theatre School.

His extensive stage credits include the award-winning Noises Off at London's Old Vic Theatre; the international touring National Theatre production of One Man, Two Guvnors; Agatha Christie's Black Coffee; and the National Theatre's acclaimed production of War Horse, by Michael Morpurgo, at the New London Theatre in London's West End.

His screen work includes the U.K.'s The Royal Today and various short films, such as Peppermint and The Kissing Booth.